JUNK INC. ↖

Junk Inc. launched its first product range at last year's Tent London, with five products including a light and a contemporary wing back chair. All the products vary in function and aesthetics but the range illustrates the versatility of Junk Inc. The Origami Lamp (pictured) is laser cut in aluminium and then bent into shape and is available in four colours. The lamp, designed by Matthew Moore, who launched Junk Inc. at the show, proved to be the most successful of his products.

DZSTUDIO ↘

Ursa is a table lamp with a framework of two bands of metal in the same colour as the metachrylate diffuser. The lamp is available in two sizes, in red or white and is suitable for any interior because of its simplistic shape and design. The design idea was to create a simple but stylish shape that followed the "less is more" concept and would suit a contemporary or classic environment. Ursa is one of the new lamps introduced by Calligaris Spa in its first lighting collection.
